BILLY SUNDAY ASSAILS GOV. AL SMITH

"FORGET PARTY LINES," HE SAYS IN APPEAL FOR HOOVER VOTES

Evangelist Calls for Law Enforcement as Revival Opens.
SIX-WEEK DRIVE
Tabernacle Crowded at Three Meetings Yesterday.

Climaxing a three-sermon opening of his second six-week revival here within 16 years, Billy Sunday, veteran evangelist, yesterday trained his guns on Gov. Al Smith and appealed to his hearers to "forget party lines" and support Herbert Hoover in tomorrow's balloting.

Speaking last night on "Crooks, Corkscrews, Bootleggers and Wet Politicians—They Shall Not Pass Even to the White House," the 61-year-old revivalist branded the Democratic presidential nominee as a foe of prohibition.

Between 12,000 and 13,000 people in all, heard the evangelist in morning, afternoon and night sermons. His voice penetratingly clear despite two weeks of political haranguing in five states following a revival engagement in Kentucky his body equally as agile as it was two decades ago and his mental alert on a parity with the best of his past standards, the Rev. Mr. Sunday exhibited newly acquired depths of spiritual tone, continued marvelous reasoning capacity and uncompromising reality to ideals in his sermons.

Hearers were in attendance from as far as New York City and San Francisco, Calif., while all points within motor distances of the Pottery City were represented by visitors. The sawdust auditorium failed to hold the night audience, hundreds standing for one hour and 45 minutes along the Hearing from Coolidge.

Uncertain N. Y. and Mass.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE
The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review.

SATURDAY came a surprise for those that had whispered, "Coolidge is not for Hoover. You will hear no Hoover endorsement from Coolidge. Or, if he does say something, it will be perfunctory and cold."

WHAT President Coolidge does say, among other things in a message to Mr. Hoover, warm in its friendship, reads as follows:

"You have had the knowledge and judgment which enabled you to tell the people the truth. You have been clear, candid and courteous, demonstrating your faith in the people and your consciousness that the truth has a power and conclusiveness of its own, which is always supreme."

"I wish to congratulate you on the high quality of your leadership. You are able, experienced, trustworthy and safe. Your success in the campaign seems assured, and I shall turn over the great office of President of the United States of America to your keeping, sure that it will be in competent hands in which the welfare of the people will be secure."

HOOVER BACK IN HOME STATE READY TO VOTE

Republican Nominee Confident of Victory Tomorrow.

SPEAKS TONIGHT
Campaign Managers Claim 300 Electoral Votes.

BY LAWRENCE SULLIVAN.
HOOPER SPECIAL ENROUTE TO PALO ALTO, Cal., Nov. 5.—Herbert Hoover returned to his home state today to await the verdict of the electorate upon his candidacy for the presidency of the United States. Despite his long journey from Washington, which started Thursday and included 14 rear platform appearances as well as four prepared addresses, Hoover came home smiling, confident of victory and "happy to be back" after the arduous campaigning which has kept him from the trout streams of his homeland since early August.

Despite the hurried schedule mapped for the "victory special" Hoover yielded to the plea of California friends for additional stops in the state and added Sacramento, Lodi and Stockton to the list of places for platform greetings.

Appeal to Voters.
Hoover will deliver a radio speech tonight. The broadcast will begin at 6:45 p. m., Pacific time. Hoover expected to confine himself to an appeal to the voters to exercise their franchise. He has declared the campaign definitely closed, so far as his own contribution is concerned by his St. Louis speech last Friday, and his tirade advocacy of Republican protection and prosperity at Pueblo, Colo., Sunday night.

An unqualified claim to a minimum of 300 electoral votes for Hoover was the final summary of the Republican managers aboard the Hoover train as it neared the journey's end. Ralph E. Williams, national committeeman from Oregon and vice chairman of the national committee, said that a month's survey just completed indicated a possibility of 300 electoral votes.

LEADERS SHOUT "WE WIN!" AS PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN ENDS

Few, However, are Wondering What's Going to Happen.

AWAIT BALLOTING

Moses Claims 409 Votes, Raskob Sees 402.

BY GEORGE R. HOLMES.
NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—The most unusual and complex presidential campaign in the political history of the country roared down the stretch to the finish today with the leaders on both sides shouting "We win!" At the same time, not a few of those same leaders are secretly wondering just what is going to happen, anyway, in tomorrow's battle of the ballots.

The principals themselves, Herbert Hoover and Governor Al Smith, are confident enough, and apparently genuinely so. They have seen the madness of the crowds that flocked about them; into the ears has poured the enthusiastic acclaim of the multitudes, and their eyes have scanned the glowing reports passed up to them by their lieutenants. Being human they have been affected by what they have seen and they are confident.

Principals Confident.

Governor Smith emerged from a two-hour conference with John J. Raskob, the Democratic generalissimo, saying, "The reports and advices clearly indicate a Democratic victory tomorrow."

B. W. HAINES, AGED 87, DIES

Benjamin W. Haines, 87, Civil war veteran and pioneer resident of East Liverpool, died yesterday afternoon in his home, 637 Lincoln avenue, after two years' illness.

Mr. Haines was born in Bordeaux, France, October 1, 1841, a son of the late Benjamin and Mary Haines. His parents came to this country when he was three years old and located in this city.

He responded to the first call for volunteers for the Union army and enlisted in Company F, 49th Pennsylvania regiment. After being mustered out, he re-enlisted in the 15th Ohio Volunteer infantry and remained in service until the close of the war.

Mr. Haines was married prior to joining his regiment in Pittsburgh, to Miss Katherine Ann Peach, of this city, who died in 1923. He was engaged in the foundry business in Wellsville for a short time but later turned his attention to the pottery industry, becoming a fireman which vocation he followed until his retirement 12 years ago. He was the founder and leader of the Haines' Military band for more than 40 years. He was a member of General Lyon post, No. 41, G. A. R. and the Methodist Protestant church.

He leaves one daughter, Mrs. Ella Morley; two grandchildren, Mrs. Cecil Pearce and John M. Tomlinson, and one great grandchild, Walter Benjamin Tomlinson. Another daughter, Mrs. Ina Tomlinson, died in 1926.

"We like Mr. Hoover's stand on prohibition," said the sisters. "Our votes will go to Cooper for governor and the rest of the Republican ticket."

Mrs. Myers was born in Tyler county, Md., January 12, 1835, being the widow of Jacob Myers, Civil war veteran, whom she married during the war. She has lived in Precinct A of the First ward for 27 years.

Mrs. Myers is the mother of seven daughters. She also has 23 grandchildren and 24 great grandchildren. She comes from a family of Republicans. Like the two Snodgrass sisters Mrs. Myers said that she will vote the straight Republican ticket when she goes to the Klondyke fire station voting place in Harvey avenue tomorrow.

Postal Authorities Investigate Steubenville Letter.

Postoffice department and East Liverpool police today were asked to investigate the source of a threatening letter received by the Rev. William A. Sunday, famous baseball evangelist, following his return to the Travelers' hotel last night from the tabernacle service.

Postmark on the letter indicated that it had been mailed on a train. It was dated at Chicago, November 1, 1928. It read:

"To one Billy Sunday, 'dry' minister. Beware when you come to Steubenville, Ohio. Your line is stale and how. First and last warning. Retire."

The message, written with pen and ink, was signed with the cross bones and skull and "Black Hands' Wet Party." The envelope was addressed to the "Rev. Mr. William A. Sunday, Campaign Headquarters, East Liverpool, Ohio."

SMITH MAKES FINAL PLEA TO FARMERS OF U.S.

Democratic Nominee Urges Agrarians to Vote.

PLEDGES RELIEF

Governor Broadcasts Throughout Grain Belt.

By GEORGE R. HOLMES.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—A final and forceful plea to the American farmer and his wife to go to the polls tomorrow and chastise the Republican party for failure to provide agricultural relief during the last two administrations was broadcast throughout the great American grain belt today by Governor Smith on the eve of election.

He accompanied it with a definite pledge that if restored to power, the Democrats will deal with the farm problem with efficiency and dispatch. He declared that Mr. Hoover offered no real solution of the farmers' problem, and that they can expect nothing from the extra session of congress which Mr. Hoover has proposed because of his opposition to the basic principles upon which "real relief" must be accomplished.

Governor Smith reminded his agricultural audience that two-thirds of two congresses had approved the principle for which he stood—governmental control of the exportable crop surpluses—and that this principle also bears the endorsement of "all our leaders," among whom he named Ex-Gov. Frank O. Lowden of Illinois, and Senator Norris of Nebraska.

It was upon Mr. Hoover's advice, Governor Smith said, that Presi-

TEAR GAS BOMB THROWN AT RALLY

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 5.—The person who attempted to break up a Republican rally on the East Side here yesterday afternoon, by throwing a tear gas bomb into the room, was sought by police today.

The meeting was attended by Maurice Maschke, Republican "boss" of Cuyahoga county and other party leaders. County Commissioner J. H. Harris was speaking when a sharp report was heard and ammonia fumes permeated the room from a rear exit.

Windows were opened and electric fans set in motion and the meeting proceeded a few minutes later. The rally was held in a strongly Democratic section and the G. O. P. leaders had been warned not to go through with it, according to reports. Police say the "bomb" was a home-made affair, prepared with a bottle.

CECIL WINES DIES AS AUTO HITS TRAIN AT COLUMBIANA

George Farley, 19, Companion, Seriously Injured.

SEDAN WRECKED

Crash Occurs on New Highway to Youngstown.

One man was killed and another perhaps fatally injured when an automobile crashed into an east-bound Fort Wayne division freight train at a crossing on the new Youngstown-East Liverpool highway, near Columbianna, at 8:15 o'clock last night.

The dead: Cecil Wines, 29, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Wines, 425 West Eighth street, driver of the car, chest crushed.

The injured: George Farley, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hayes Farley, Sherwood, concussion of the brain, right leg fractured and lacerations; taken to Central clinic, Salem.

Wines, accompanied by Farley, driving a Chevrolet sedan, and traveling north toward Youngstown, is believed to have failed to notice the train, which blocked the crossing. Both passengers were hurled from the automobile as it struck the side of the train. The sedan was carried along the tracks about 30 feet.

Coroner to Conduct Inquest.

Wines was dead when members of the train crew reached his side. Fry's ambulance was called from Columbianna and Farley was taken to the Central clinic, Salem, where he was attended by Dr. F. W. Trader, Columbianna.

The body of Wines was removed to the Fry funeral parlors in Columbianna, and later brought to the Miller funeral home, Sixth street.

Members of the Wines family said that the victim and Farley, who were chums, left here at 6 o'clock last night for a drive. The crossing, where the accident occurred, is unprotected by safety gates or lights.

Coroner J. M. Van Fossan, East Palestine, was to arrive in East Liverpool this afternoon to conduct an inquest.

County Authorities Investigate.

Deputy Sheriff Lawrence Kindsvatter and Prosecuting Attorney Robert M. Brookes were called to the scene of the wreck and made an investigation last night.

The caboose of the freight train is said to have been damaged in the crash. A wreck train was called from Alliance to open the tracks.

Wines, who was employed as a mechanic at the Trotter Chevrolet company's garage in Market street, is survived by his parents and two brothers, Leonard and Russell, both at home.

AUTO PLUNGES INTO RIVER

William Beaver Narrowly Escapes Drowning.

William Beaver, Dixonville, narrowly escaped drowning when his automobile plunged over a 25-foot embankment into the Ohio river near the old power house, River road, at 9 o'clock last night.

The motor car, which did not overturn, was brought to a stop where the water was about three feet deep. Beaver was assisted to the shore by pedestrians who threw him a rope.

Captain of Police Conley arrested Beaver, charging him with operating a car while intoxicated. He pleaded not guilty when he faced Municipal Judge Hanley today and was released on his own recognizance until Judge Hanley could confer with Captain Conley.

His automobile, a coupe, was still in the river this morning.

A Candidates Qualifications

As the campaign draws to a close the Voter should ask himself regarding the fitness and ability of the candidate to discharge the duties of the office to which he aspires.

At this time it is my wish, as a friend of Paul Finley to speak a word as to his qualifications for the office of Delegate to the West Virginia Legislature.

When but a boy, Paul served as Page in the National Congress, during the World War.

He is a young man of good business ability, being a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh class of 1924 and is now General Manager of the Newell Lumber and Contracting Company and has shown a marked ability in building up the business and placing it among the leading Lumber and Contracting firms of the Ohio Valley.

He is a member of the Board of Trade of Chester and is aligned with every movement for the betterment of Chester and Hancock County.

If the Voters decide to make him their representative in the Legislature, they may feel assured that their interests will be carefully guarded and all legislation supported or opposed from a keen business standpoint.

You will make no mistake in supporting him for the office to which he aspires, as he bid fair to become one of the outstanding business men of Hancock County and will give us an able representation.

“TO KNOW HIM IS TO APPROVE HIM”

Oscar O. Allison
Candidate for Sheriff
Makes Statement

As the date of election draws near, many roor-backs and much political propaganda is being whispered around and circulated among the voters.

As a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Hancock County, I want to say that I have conducted a fair and clean campaign, at all times discouraging and denouncing any untrue or damaging statements made about my opponent, who is one of my best friends, and as to the many reports being circulated against myself, most of them are so preposterous, false, ridiculous and even malicious, that no honest or fair-minded citizen could or would give them a passing thought. However, I desire to publicly state that I have NOT, nor shall I make any pledge or promise, to appoint any particular individual for Deputy Sheriff, neither have I promised or indicated leniency or concessions of any nature to any faction, person or group of persons on earth; all reports that my campaign is being backed and financed by certain interests, emanates from my enemies for political purposes and are vicious and deliberate falsehoods. Such methods and tactics are cowardly and unprincipled to say the least.

I have but ONE promise to make and that is: “IF ELECTED TO THE OFFICE OF SHERIFF, I SHALL WITHOUT FEAR OR FAVOR, DISCHARGE THE DUTIES OF SAID OFFICE TO THE BEST OF MY ABILITY IN ACCORDANCE WITH MY OATH OF OFFICE.”

Earnestly soliciting the support of the men and women voters of Hancock County, on Tuesday, November 6th, I am,

Sincerely yours,
OSCAR O. ALLISON

ions to the straight ballot by cross marks in front of certain individual candidates on the other ballot," declared secretary of state Clarence J. Brown today.

This declaration was continued in a statement issued by Brown as head of the state's election machinery. It was designed to clear away ruling by Attorney General Edward C. Turner. Turner ruled, in an opinion given to Secretary Brown, that a ballot marked with an X in the circle on one presidential ticket with a cross mark in front of one of the electors on the other presidential ticket would count only as an individual vote for the elector in front of whose name the cross mark appeared.

"This ruling," Brown declared today, "applies only to the presidential ballot and to group voting, such as for the election of county commissioners or candidates for the state legislature—cases where two or more persons are to be elected."

Vote

If the predictions of election chieftains and party leaders are fulfilled, a record-breaking poll of 35,000 votes will be cast in the 106 precincts of Columbiana county in tomorrow's presidential, state, district and county balloting.

Inasmuch as no precinct has less than four ballots—presidential, state, proposed amendment and judicial—and many have five to seven, heavy voting means there must be a steady stream of electors to the booths if all are to be permitted to exercise the suffrage privilege.

Housewives and unemployed women and men should go to the polls during the forenoon, thus leaving the afternoon and early evening hours for employed persons.

Every qualified elector should perform his or her duty as a citizen. But the wise voter will not defer the privilege until the rush period.

Support Special Proposals

Three special propositions—two bond proposals and one tax question—will be submitted to East Liverpool electors tomorrow.

Two bonds issues, one for $100,000 for a new city hall and another for $40,000 for a new downtown fire station, are asked, while a proposed three-fourth mill tax levy is submitted for maintenance, repair and upkeep of the City Hospital.

The three proposals, which will mean comparatively little increase in taxation, should be approved.

They Come to Bury Caesar

The brewery interests have come to bury Gov. Smith, not to praise him.

Because Gov. Smith has the personal courage to advocate a modification of the prohibition law, the brewery interest have resorted to the mails with a flood of letters urging the support of men and women who have the interest of the nation—and the youth of the nation—at heart.

Like barnacles cling to a ship which is under water, the brewery interests have attached themselves to Gov. Smith's candidacy, and in so doing have materially retarded him in whatever progress he may be making in his campaign. The brewery interests, encouraged by Gov. Smith's open espousal of modification, have substantially a promise of the corner saloon if the Democratic nominee is elected.

Mr. Smith has the courage of his convictions, despite the fact that the Democratic platform is avowedly dry. He has based his campaign largely on an appeal to the liberal element throughout the country. In so doing he may bring about his own defeat, but his personal courage cannot be questioned. But with the brewery interests covertly urging election of Mr. Smith, it is questionable whether his cause has been strengthened.

The letters on stationery of a Milwaukee brewery urged that modification of the prohibition law will prove a panacea for all the ills of government which the Democrats profess to have discovered since the Houston convention.

Decision of the United States supreme court defining the limit of alcoholic content permissible in any beverage is attacked in the letters by the brewery interests as a "fine-spun legal theory."

The breweries never are whipped. And everyone knows, just as the brewery knows, it is but a step from beer to liquor. The letter the brewery interests have sent out is interesting after a fashion, but it commits an error of omission that instantly lays it open to attack. What the letter fails to make plain is that prohibition, now almost ten years old in the United States, has increased savings bank accounts of the individual everywhere, increased home ownership, has practically done away with acute poverty, has raised the standard of living far above what it was in the days of the saloon, has been responsible for more schools, better clothed young men and women, and has proven a bulwark impregnable against the assaults of the liquor men.

The thinking public will not be influenced by such letters as the Milwaukee brewery is mailing everywhere. Shenanigans of that sort will not gather votes. Instead, they will react disastrously against the man they were intended to aid. Prohibition is here to stay.

Marking Ballots

Ohio's great army of voters next Tuesday will find it a comparatively simple matter to mark the ballots which will be handed them at the polling places. There will be the national ticket, which will be voted straight in 99 per cent of the cases. And the state ticket, which may be scratched to some extent; the non-partisan judicial ticket, which plainly indicates how many names must be voted, and one special ballot, a referendum concerning a "raise in salary for judges of the supreme court. In addition, 10 at issues will be submitted in cities and school districts.

But in some states this condition will be completely reversed. Take Pennsylvania, for instance. There the voters will face the task of voting on more than half a dozen special issues, in addition to the presidential ticket, the congressional ticket and the local county ticket.

There will be thousands of women in Ohio who will vote November 6 for the first time. Campaign workers have found numbers of these women who were timid about registering, and who still are timid about voting. But there is nothing to be afraid of. It is presumed a woman old enough to vote possesses the sound common sense which will enable her to mark her ballot properly, and not invalidate it.

Some voters seem to be of the belief that they can do with the ballots whatever they see fit—mark them with a fountain pen or a special pencil they may have with them, or with pencils that leave colored marks. But in this they are wrong. Such marking of a ballot, except to write in the name of some qualified candidate whose name does not appear thereon, invalidate the entire ballot, and it is not counted.

The sensible thing to do is to use the equipment provided for marking the ballots.

If you have moved since registration day, transfer to night. Don't disfranchise yourself.

HASKIN DAILY LETTER

By Frederick J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 5.—Not more than one person in ten makes a will disposing of his worldly goods. For one reason or another half of the wills made, fall of probate, according to Daniel Remsey, eminent legal authority.

Many wills are so rigidly constructed that their provisions can not be adjusted to meet the changing social and economic conditions that come with the passage of time and they therefore only partially achieve the benevolent purpose of their testators. Notable examples of this may be found in the bequests of Stephen Girard and Robert Richard Randall. The limitations and restrictions imposed by the terms of these two wills have resulted in the accumulation of vast sums of money that cannot be used either for Girard College or for sailors' Snug Harbor. Franklin's generous plan to aid mechanics failed of usefulness because the system of apprenticeship was abolished.

Some years ago a railroad president left a fund to establish an orphanage for the daughters of railroad men, employees killed in the discharge of their duties. At the last accounting this endowment has reached the sum of two million dollars but girls eligible to its benefits have been so few that the officials of the orphanage have had to advertise for them. At one time they could discover but twelve girls coming under the conditions of the will.

The court house files throughout the country hold many wills whose terms made with the best intentions of benevolence have failed of their purpose through their lack of foresight and their tendency to perpetuate the power of the dead hand far beyond the life period of their immediate heirs. This has resulted in legislation most states creating a limit called "two lives in being." Thus property income cannot be devised by will to a third generation of heirs, the purpose being to prevent money being tied up for purposes that in time become obsolete. This does not apply to trusts and charitable funds.

Records show many wills whose provisions make them curiosities in human documents for the vagaries of mind which they illustrate. Bequests have been left for every conceivable purpose, and written upon whatever material was most available.

Wills reflected the character of their makers more truly than any other work of their hands. A reading of General Washington's will presents the best portrait of him as a man. In it he shows clearly a family strain of thought and even of expression that is found in the wills of all of his American ancestors.

The shortest will on record is that of Leonard Calvert, first governor of Maryland, who with his twenty gentlemen and two hundred adventures from the Ark and Dove founded St. Mary's. When Calvert was stricken with his last illness he made a nuncupative will that has found place in the annals of history for its brevity and clarity. By this will he made his sister-in-law, Margaret Brent, his executrix, saying in the presence of his official family, so that all might hear "I make you my executrix! Take All! Pay All!"

Through wills may be traced the progress of our development as they reflect more vividly than anything else the manners, customs, and trend of thought of each generation.

The late Charles Warren Fairbanks made one odd provision in his will, which reads: "I bequeath the city of Indianapolis, Marion county, Indiana, the sum of fifty thousand ($50,000) to be securely invested and kept invested by the said city, at compound interest, for the period of five hundred years. The sum with the interest thereon shall be known as 'The Cornelia Cole Fairbanks Memorial, to commemorate the life and virtues of a great woman who was an inspiration to better living and doing and whose holy influence I gratefully acknowledge."

"At the end of each fifty years during said period the increase of said principal sum shall be used by the said city as follows: First for erecting and maintaining buildings for the purpose of promoting the intellectual, moral and physical well being of the worthy poor of the community." Other provisions were made for public buildings for labor, art, science, and public charity, parks and playgrounds. In this tribute to the virtues of his wife he extols at length. The will was probated June 19, 1918, and disposed of an estate of about eight million dollars. A study of the wills of the last few years shows a marked tendency to abandon the old style of voluminous expression and the influence of the great foundations and endowments by which education, arts, and sciences have been developed in our country, is being shown by loosening of the clutch of the dead hand on the control of money after death, in the rigid and restricted terms found so frequently in those of the past.

Questions And Answers

By Frederick J. Haskin

This newspaper puts at your disposal a corps of trained researchers in Washington who will answer questions for you. They have access to the government departments, the libraries, museums, galleries, and public buildings, and to the numerous associations which maintain headquarters in the nation's Capital. If they can be of assistance to you, write your question plainly, and send with two cents in coin or stamps to the East Liverpool Review Information Bureau, Frederick J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C.

Q. Can World War veterans obtain government insurance now? L. L.

A. A recent amendment to the World War Veterans' Act provides that on application the bureau shall grant to any veteran of the World War, government insurance provided such veterans is in good health and furnishes evidence to the director to that effect.

Q. What kind of data does Commander Byrd expect to gather at the South Pole? F. O. G.

A. Commander Byrd has stated: "There is much meteorological data to be obtained, which alone would justify the hazards encountered by such an expedition, for the weather of a large part of the world is affected by the Antarctic. The polar regions of the South affect weather even more than those of the North. It is also possible that a great deal can be learned as to the conditions which once existed in the Antarctic, for it is possible that land life once existed there and that the ice cap which now covers it has exterminated it all. We may be able to prove that, and if so it will teach us much about the geological past of this extraordinary continent. The Antarctic really reproduces the condition which once existed in America and Europe during the ice age. It is certain that at one time the ice cap did not exist, for the world was much too hot. Coal is found in the Arctic, and where there is coal there was once a tropical climate."

NEW YORK Day By Day

By O. O. McIntyre.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Diary of a modern Pepsy: Out early to carry a neighbor's sick bird to a bird doctor and somehow felt silly. Breakfasted with Ray Long who has been to Europe again, then to call on beautiful Elizabeth Young recovering from a benzine buggy accident. Home to work on my biography for a magazine.

Later to an auction and being sufficiently funded acquired an early American chair, but where I will find space for it I do not know. And among those along the streets were Carl Van Vechten, Montague Glass, Katherine Howard and Sime Silverman.

To a dinner where I heard the story of the Scotsman who learned he could send his signature by telegraph free and so told the clerk he was an Indian and merely wanted to send his signature I Won't Be Home Until Friday. But all save I had heard it. To bed with a great weariness.

Musical reviews are now planting what appears to be extemporaneous bits of repartee in their productions and almost invariably they click. It seems to the audience to be an accidental peep behind the scenes, although actually rehearsed for weeks. Recently at a musical rehearsal a piece of scenery fell with a loud crash. Bert Wheeler, a comedian, cried: "It's the mice!" It got such a grand laugh among the performers it was kept in the routine.

Burlesque has a sure fire laugh in one of those face smacking contests. A burlesque show on the East Side never fails to insert this bit of buffoonery. Incidentally, the comedian with baggy pantaloons, green whiskers and splay feet is still a beloved institution down there. I was in one of the East Side's burlesque houses recently when a Juncoque blonde in tight's stooped to pick up a handkerchief and was immediately magnificently whined with a slipstick. And among those doubling up in the aisle with unrestrained laughter was Mrs. O. O. McIntyre's sedate boy friend.

The Bowery seems the last stand in Manhattan for buxom burlesque queens with peroxide hair and a bright gold tooth. The Bowery is not interested in like young things with slinking walks and demure expressions. It likes its show ladies fair, fat and forty. The average salaries of burlesque ladies range from $20 to $40 a week. They are usually married "in the profession." An old trouper tells me burlesque folk are thrifty and rarely need a benefit.

East Side burlesque houses still feature the peanut, popcorn and soft drink vendors who circulate the aisles between acts dispensing gim-cracks. Who'll have a Horton? Here y'are—fresh soda pop? Popcorn five a package! In other days ladies sat only in curtained boxes, wearing heavy veils. Today they occupy prominent seats along with men. There is a burlesque house in the Broadway district that has its pot-pourri of full dress suits and décolleté gowns.

Smutty cracks are rarely tolerated in burlesque. Many of the jokes are far less risqué than those in $10 musical reviews. There is a more jovial commonness in dress and make-up and more broadly exaggerated situations, but burlesque cleaned house long ago. One of New York's famous Wall Street operators is a consistent patron, as is a novelist who writes lavender and old lace romances.

At a luncheon the other day were three millionaires who had never been abroad. All had visited every city of consequence in America. They expected to go to Europe some day, but prefer to see America first. Most of us shove off for Europe after the first thousand and that is why we seldom become millionaires. But don't we rave, boom, boom?

A New York philosopher classifies humanity as the highest type of true courage. My notion of true courage would be, when peeking under the silver lid of the meat dish the waiter permits you to inspect before serving, to cry: "That's terrible; take it back!"

And I know a fellow who went back to his little home town in Arkansas wearing a pearl white derby. Greater courage hath no man!

YOUR HEALTH

An Ounce of Prevention Is Worth A Pound of Cure.

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland.

Ten minutes good airing of the house after the children have gone to school or office, will get rid of the "dead air" and make the house more comfortable the rest of the day. Few of us get enough fresh air; nobody can have too much.

Ventilation and sun light are essential to health. What are you doing to provide these for your family? Not every home is so located as to get all the sunshine that we could wish. But few homes are so located as to make it impossible to get "sky-shine."

Scientists have taught us that in light there are certain rays that do more than illuminate our surroundings. These rays have almost magical power in rejuvenating and stimulating the human animal. Exposure to them promotes health. Not to have their action upon our bodies causes us to suffer defects we should not have.

Run up the shades and permit this life-giving light to flood the rooms. Never mind if the carpet fades. Its colors are far less important than the physical well-being of your family. When cold days come there is a temptation to shut out the air. In olden times they used to nail the windows shut and tuck rags around them to keep out the cold.

Fortunately for us houses are better built now, and the means of heating much improved. But we must not forget the importance of having an abundance of air.

At least a third of our lives we spend in bed. There is no excuse for having that room unventilated. The bed coverings supply the warmth. The air of the chamber should be fresh at night.

Give a little thought today to the house in which you live, the place in which you work, the school where the children go. Good air is just as important as good food, good water, good milk and clean clothing. Certainly it is a cheap price! Perhaps that is the reason we don't prize it.

For years I hammered at the Senate, begging the members to make the chamber a healthful one in which to live. It was largely the effect of 37 deaths of Senators in 12 years that made my efforts successful. The plans are drawn and the contract let for a remodeling of that terrible prison-house.

The present Senate chamber is an inside room—entirely cut off from the outside world. No sunshine, no breath of natural air ever reaches it.

But now there are to be three great windows. Let us hope the country will be able to observe the effects upon legislation of a habitable place for the law makers!

Nobody can be normal if he lives and has his being in an atmosphere lacking in oxygen and natural light. Man was not made for cave-dwelling. This is the season when living conditions become worse for the average family in a Northern climate. It will pay in lessened doctors' bills and in increased efficiency to give heed to the ventilation.

Answers To Health Queries.

M. M. Q.—What would you advise for a cold chilly feeling of the flesh? Even when perspiring this condition persists. I am in good health, but have soreness and stiffness in the knees and hips.

A.—Due to a circulatory disturbance. Find the infection causing the rheumatism in the knees and hips. When this has been located and properly treated your system will benefit. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

M. F. Q.—Are brown spots on the face, liver spots? I also have freckles. What will remove these blemishes?

2.—Will help me to plump up weight?

A.—Very likely. Watch your diet, and be sure to keep the system

Liquor and the Automobile Again. A correspondent of the Springfield Republican calls attention to a report made to the department of commerce, two years ago, concerning liquor as a cause of automobile accidents.

The significant part of the report lies in what it says of alcohol as a factor in a very large number of accidents in which its presence is not officially recognized. "Intoxication," in the usual legal sense of the word, is so difficult to prove to the average jury that it is not charged in large numbers of cases in which it unquestionably exists. Furthermore, for various reasons there is often a strong reluctance to ascribe an accident to intoxication, even when it is known by competent witnesses to have been a determining factor.

Because of the legal quibbling over the definition and required proof of "intoxication," there is a movement in some places in favor of having the laws and ordinances read "under the influence of liquor," so that evasion of penalties would be made more difficult. Science has long ago shown that it takes extremely little liquor to render both the hand and the mind uncertain of action to a degree which may easily prove disastrous if the person concerned is at the steering wheel. As automobile traffic increases, it becomes more and more imperative that this source of danger be removed from the streets and highways.

A new convenience must not be allowed indefinitely to continue to grind the lives out of thousands of men, women and children every year; and certainly so unnecessary an accessory to this slaughter as alcohol in the driver should be eliminated.

Once Overs

By J. J. Mundy.

Don't Blame the Poor Tin Can. Do you feel antagonistic toward the driver of a low-powered car that prevents you from driving at your desired speed?

You think such a car should not be allowed on the road.

Do you ever take into consideration that the driver may be operating his car at as fast a speed as he thinks safe?

Perhaps, on account of its age, it is the fastest pace the car can make with safety, or perhaps it "suffers" from some mechanical defect, known only to the owner.

You are fortunate if you can drive a better car.

The one of which you complain is, in all probability, the best the driver can afford.

It is not his fault that he cannot have a speedy, new car.

What right have you to blame him, for that which he cannot avoid?

However, there is no room for condoning the attitude of a man who has a good machine and who insists upon driving traffic lanes at a snail's pace. The driver who deliberately loads on a busy thoroughfare is a menace.

To hold up a long line of traffic just because one chooses to drive slower than the majority endangers life and increases accidents.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with four-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth. Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

COLD WEATHER BUILDING SAFE

You Can Count on Good Material at Citizens' Lumber Co.

Winter building may be done with just as much effectiveness and good results as summer construction work if materials, such as obtained from the Citizens' Lumber company are of the required quality, and supervision is up to standard.

"Winter construction has not the hazards generally associated with such work and when all factors are taken into consideration by the builder, there are no hazards and the work proceeds on the proper schedule and with all due regard to the extreme cold, without any undue difficulty," say builders. "In fact, a house built in the cold period will generally show fewer defects than one built in warm weather. It is now a recognized fact that the very best of woods now obtainable contain a certain amount of moisture and when used in the open season absorb more. In winter, the builder is forced to maintain heat night and day in the building from time of inclosure until completion, and over a period of several months this heat effectively dries out all moisture in the wood, from the heaviest timbers to the smallest molding, reducing likelihood of future shrinkage."

"The actual cost of work in winter is not any greater than the same work erected in summer. To put it plainly, the men work in cold weather to keep warm. Winter work is harder on the "boss" than on the workman and that is possibly why in the past it has been the custom to close down in winter; but now we see construction work carried on as a continuous operation."

The Citizens' Lumber company, located at Stop 54 on the Y. & O. is ready to serve builders of the district at any time in any needed materials.

If the bond issue is carried it will permit the construction of a storm sewer large enough to relieve the district which suffers a great deal of damage and inconvenience as a result of the heavy rains during the spring and summer months. "The Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction company agreed to pay part of the expense of the construction of the storm sewer should the bond issue carry. The bond issue submitted is the only one asked of the people at this election and is one of the most important submitted in years."

OFFICIALS ROUT POTATO SELLER

Mayor W. L. Fogo and Chief of Police John Fultz routed a potato salesman here Saturday after the latter had attempted to dispose of inferior goods to a local woman. No arrests were made but the authorities warned the salesman to stay out of town.

The salesman, driving a Reo truck, went to a home here and asked the woman if she wanted potatoes. She said she had already ordered her potatoes and named the farmer from whom she had ordered them.

The salesman declared, then, that he was delivering for this farmer and proceeded to unload five bushels in the woman's cellar. The purchaser inspected the potatoes and then notified police, declaring they were not what she had promised to pay for.

The mayor and Chief Fultz found the man who had sold the potatoes and he admitted, under questioning, that he had been selling for a Steubenville firm.

POLICE ARREST SHOPLIFTER

Steubenville Man Awaits Hearing Before Mayor.

Harry Brown, colored, claiming his home as Steubenville, was arrested Saturday by Chief of Police John Fultz on a shoplifting charge after local business men had reported the disappearance of articles from their shelves. Brown is awaiting a hearing before Mayor W. L. Fogo.

Brown, according to police, went into the Russell clothing store near Thirteenth and Main. After he had gone, clerks reported the disappearance of a cap.

Several pairs of gloves were taken from the Snediker grocery store the same day. Prior to that an attempt was made to steal several pairs of shoes from the Crubaugh shop here but the timely appearance of the proprietor ruined the plans of the two colored men who were said to have been trying to get away with the footwear.

Late Saturday Chief Fultz arrested Brown as he was waiting for a street car in lower Main street.

Wellsville Swamped At Lisbon

Orange and Black Buried Under 38-6 Score.

IN the outstanding Columbiana county scholastic football upset of the season, Lisbon swamped Wellsville Saturday at the fairgrounds by a score of 38 to 6. The county seaters scored three touchdowns in the second period, two more in the third and one in the wind-up while the best visiting eleven could do was to shove a six-pointer across in the final frame.

With four regulars out of the lineup, the performance of the Orange eleven which a week ago held the strong Struthers combine to an 11-point victory, was exceptionally ragged while the Lisbon lads played smart foot ball all the way.

They started on their scoring rampage in the second period, recovering a weak Wellsville kick on the Orange 28. Bye and Kelly hit the line for a touchdown, aided by a 15-yard penalty. After the kickoff Wellsville advanced the ball to to the Lisbon 25-yard line. Snowden tossed a pass at this point and Bye intercepted it racing the rest of the way down the field for a touchdown.

A pass, Bye to Kelly, over the Wellsville goal line, accounted for the third touchdown and Cornelli bucked the line for the extra point.

Lisbon recovered a Wellsville fumble on the Orange 15 in the third period. Bye hit left guard for two yards and on the next play made 11 more. Cornelli played the center of the line for the touchdown and Cornelli kicked the point between the bars.

Stubborn Cough Quickly Ended by Famous Recipe

Here is the famous old recipe which millions of housewives have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up a stubborn, lingering cough. It takes but a moment to prepare and costs little, but it gives real relief even for those dreaded coughs that usually follow the "flu."

From any drugstore, get 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. Thus you make a full pint of better remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times the cost. It never spoils and tastes so good that even children like it.

Not only does this simple mixture soothe and heal the inflamed throat membranes with surprising ease, but also it is absorbed into the blood, and acts directly upon the bronchial tubes, thus aiding the whole system in throwing off the cough. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm and eases chest soreness in a way that is really astonishing.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

THEATER RALLIES

Mayor Says Style of Buildings Not Determined.

Accompanied by a band, a group of speakers will visit suburban sections tonight to conduct outdoor meeting in the interest of the proposed $150,000 city hall and $40,000 central fire station bond issues which will be submitted to the voters at tomorrow's election.

Mayor Ralph Benedum, City Solicitor Hoover and probably members of city council will take part in the trip, during which East End, Pleasant Heights, West End, Northside and Maplewood will be visited. Four-minute talks will also be given in the Ceramic and American theaters.

In a statement issued today under the signature of Mayor Ralph Benedum, the report that a "plan and style of building had been adopted for the city hall and fire station" was denied.

"Pictures which have been shown are but one architect's conception of the building," the statement says. "He drew sketches of his own volition without suggestion or without pay."

"If the proposed bond issues are approved plans of other architects will be considered."

Shout "We Win!"

Herbert Hoover, nearing the end of his long journey to the Pacific coast, informs his associates that he does not doubt the correctness of their reports of victory tomorrow.

Chairman Raskob claims 402 electoral votes for Governor Smith.

Senator George H. Moses, eastern director of the Hoover campaign, claims 409 electoral votes for Hoover.

To most observers and to the leaders on both sides these 400-claims are equally ridiculous. They can be justified by nothing except the political habit of campaign managers on the eve of an election to claim everything in sight, and thus promote "the victory complex."

Signs of Hoover Victory.

Both sides can find reasons aplenty for confidence, but not by such figures as the rival chairman have evolved with their pencils and tables.

The surface indications, that is, straw votes, betting odds and newspaper "experting," all indicate a Hoover victory. Yet there are puzzling elements and baffling cross-currents present in this election that have never entered into any previous election in American history and exactly what they portend only tomorrow can tell.

A list of these new and puzzling factors might be extended indefinitely, but generally they are grouped under three headings, to-wit:

The presence for the first time of an acute religious controversy in the election of an American president.

The presence for the first time of an acute controversy over prohibition in a national election.

A new army of approximately 10,000,000 voters added to the nearly 20,000,000 that participated in the 1924 election.

To the forecaster who can accurately analyze the actual ballot strength contained in this trip of new elements tomorrow's election is an open book. But to most observers, trying to chart their course by old, tried and familiar landmarks, they present a composite conundrum that can only be solved tomorrow night by the counting of some 40,000,000 votes.

able Hoover (total of 400 votes in the electoral college, against 266 needed to elect).

Predicts G. O. P. Victory.

"My survey during the last four weeks shows," Williams said, "that if the people in the country and the small towns go to the polls, Mr. Hoover will carry the election by the western, mid-western and middle Atlantic states alone, with an electoral vote of at least 300 against the necessary 263."

"My own official survey covers the following states where Mr. Hoover will secure large and substantial majorities if, as I have said, the voters go to the polls and do not leave all the voting to the large cities: Washington, Oregon, California, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, Utah, Colorado, Nevada, Arizona, North and South Dakota, Minnesota, Oklahoma, Tennessee, Missouri, Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia. To which may be added at once Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware or a total of over 300."

"Advices also show that the drift toward Mr. Hoover in Wisconsin, Maryland and North Carolina will carry him over these states, making a total of 333, without any consideration of the states where I have personally made no survey but which should give additional electoral votes."

If that is not enthusiastic, coming from Mr. Coolidge, man of few words, it would be hard to imagine enthusiasm.

And observe the Wisdom of the President. He knows that the LAST word is the powerful word. Remember the people's capacity for forgetting, at the LAST MINUTE he sends them the message that HIS supporters should be HOOVER'S supporters.

NOTHING could be more emphatic than the president's statement to Hoover:

"You have disclosed a breadth of information, a maturity of thought and a soundness of conclusion, on public questions, never surpassed in a previous presidential campaign."

GOV. SMITH, winding up the campaign in his home town, New York, received, even in the rain, such a welcome as New York has not seen since Dewey came home.

IN his Brooklyn speech he attacked the Republican party in New York for its opposite to his social welfare legislation. The national Republican party knows that it has a weak spot in New York, where the Republican bosses invite corporations that do not see what they want "to ask for it."

dent Coolidge twice vetoed farm relief legislation.

"He had nothing to offer in place of it," he said, "what has Mr. Hoover to offer in place of it today? If he is true to what he has always said he would certainly veto any bill passed upon the principle of the control of the exportable surplus. You certainly do not think he is going to sign a bill, whether passed at a special session or regular session, based upon that principle which he calls 'state socialism.'"

"This is a great moment for East Liverpool and one of its greatest days," declared the Rev. Mr. Davidson. "There used to be a garden on this lot before the first Billy Sunday revival in 1912 and I am hoping that it by now shall become a veritable gate of heaven, a house of God that shall shine as bright as the stars as a way to many into the kingdom of God."

Both the Rev. Mr. Davidson and the Rev. W. O. Hawkins, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, and chairman of the campaign executive committee, was in general charge of all of the exercises of the day.

had been absent from the city but a day, was previously introduced by Prof. Hugh F. Laughlin, who had trained the choir for him.

Mr. Sunday revealed Miss Kinney and Messrs Peterson and Locke as Methodists, Beckwith as a Baptist and Matthews, himself and Mrs. Sunday as Presbyterians.

Rodeheaver complimented Prof. Laughlin on the state of the choir and suggested that all of them had been students of his during his tenure in the city schools. "We are going to have a fine time in East Liverpool," he said, "and there will be many fine features from time to time during the preliminary periods. We shall sing the old songs and learn many new ones." Carrying his famed trombone with him he utilized it at all of the services of the day.

Special Musical Numbers.

At Rodeheaver's request, Miss May Saltmarsh, one of the best trombone players in the country who, with Miss Tess Sheehan belong to the Redpath chautauqua, joined him in a trombone number in the afternoon service, "I Love To Tell the Story" being the vehicle. In the evening Miss Saltmarsh gave a solo number and again accompanied Rodeheaver. At the conclusion of the choral practice following the night service, Miss Sheehan exhibited her powers of imitation in reading.

"Holy, Holy, Holy" by John B. Dyke was the first song chosen to be sung during the revival by Mr. Rodeheaver. "The Awakening Chorus" by Charles H. Gabriel was another appealing morning offering. Later he, with Miss Kinney and Mr. Beckwith at the piano contributed "The Chimes" with his trombone.

Rodeheaver sang "My Wonderful Dream" in the evening and "Some Bright Morning" in the afternoon. In the afternoon he also sang "The Stranger of Galilee."

Campaign Expense $10,000.

The invocations of the day were made by the Rev. William H. Baker, pastor of the First Church of Christ, in the morning; the Rev. R. C. Beachley, pastor of the Pennsylvania Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, in the afternoon; and Dr. J. H. Lawther, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, in the evening.

ROCHESTER MAN DIES AFTER HIT-RUN AUTO DRIVER HITS HIM

Funeral Services Held Today for Sebastian Camerata, 27 — Freedom Motorist Arrested.

ROCHESTER, Pa., Nov. 5.—Funeral services were held today in the St. Cecilia's Catholic church for Sebastian Camerata, 27, of Harmony avenue, who died of a fractured skull sustained when hit by a hit-run automobile driver last Thursday on the bridge spanning McKinley's Run between Rochester and North Rochester.

Walter Anderson, 1445 Fourth avenue, Freedom, arrested Friday night by Assistant Chief of Police P. A. Anderson in connection with the accident, and later released on his own recognizance by Chief of Police William G. Roth, Rochester, will be arraigned before Justice of the Peace William A. Wehr, on a charge of failure to stop and render assistance following an accident. Anderson was arrested on a warrant sworn out before Justice Wehr by Camerata's brother.

Although much mystery surrounded the manner in which Camerata was injured, a wheelbarrow found on the bridge near his prostrate body indicated that he had been struck by a hit-and-run driver. Chief Roth later unearthed several clues which led to the arrest of Anderson.

Gas on Stomach Is Dangerous

Gas, pain, bloating and sourness after eating almost always mean "too much acid" in the stomach. The condition is dangerous. Acid irritates the stomach lining and may lead to ulcers. Gas forms and presses against the heart. The stomach needs an alkaline. Bisurated Magnesia—powder or tablets—is the ideal method of getting safe, quick, lasting relief. It neutralizes the excess acid, sweetens the stomach, breaks up the gas, stops the pain and sourness. Food digests naturally. It must give prompt relief or money back say Mathews Med. THEATER RALLIES

Mayor Says Style of Buildings Not Determined.

Accompanied by a band, a group of speakers will visit suburban sections tonight to conduct outdoor meeting in the interest of the proposed $160,000 city hall and $10,000 Central fire station bond issues which will be submitted to the voters at tomorrow's election.

Mayor Ralph Benedum, City Solicitor Hoover and probably members of city council will take part in the trip, during which East End, Pleasant Heights, West End, Northside and Maplewood will be visited. Four-minute talks will also be given in the Ceramic and American theaters.

In a statement issued today under the signature of Mayor Ralph Benedum, the report that a "plan and style of building had been adopted for the city hall and fire station" was denied.

"Pictures which have been shown are but one architect's conception of the building," the statement says. "He drew sketches of his own volition without suggestion or without pay."

"If the proposed bond issues are approved plans of other architects will be considered."

Shout "We Win!"

Herbert Hoover, nearing the end of his long journey to the Pacific coast, informs his associates that he does not doubt the correctness of their reports of victory tomorrow.

Chairman Raskob claims 402 electoral votes for Governor Smith.

Senator George H. Moses, eastern director of the Hoover campaign, claims 409 electoral votes for Hoover.

To most observers and to the leaders on both sides these 400-claims are equally ridiculous. They can be justified by nothing except the political habit of campaign managers on the eve of an election to claim everything in sight, and thus promote "the victory complex."

Signs of Hoover Victory.

Both sides can find reasons aplenty for confidence, but not by such figures as the rival chairman have evolved with their pencils and tables.

The surface indications, that is, straw votes, betting odds and newspaper "experting," all indicate a Hoover victory. Yet there are puzzling elements and baffling cross-currents present in this election that have never entered into any previous election in American history and exactly what they portend only tomorrow can tell.

A list of these new and puzzling factors might be extended indefinitely, but generally they are grouped under three headings, to-wit:

The presence for the first time of an acute religious controversy in the election of an American president.

The presence for the first time of an acute controversy over prohibition in a national election.

A new army of approximately 10,000,000 voters added to the nearly 60,000,000 that participated in the 1924 election.

To the forecaster who can accurately analyze the actual ballot strength contained in this trip of new elements tomorrow's election is an open book. But to most observers, trying to chart their course by old tried and familiar landmarks, they present a composite conundrum that can only be solved tomorrow night by the counting of some 40,000,000 votes.

Hoover Back Home

Sible Hoover total of 400 votes in the electoral college, against 266 needed to elect.

Predicts G. O. P. Victory.

"My survey during the last four weeks shows," Williams said, "that if the people in the country and the small towns go to the polls, Mr. Hoover will carry the election by the western, mid-western and middle Atlantic states alone, with an electoral vote of at least 300 against the necessary 265."

"My own official survey covers the following states where Mr. Hoover will secure large and substantial majorities if, as I have said, the voters go to the polls and do not leave all the votes to the large cities: Washington, Oregon, California, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, Utah, Colorado, Nevada, Arizona, North and South Dakota, Minnesota, Oklahoma, Tennessee, Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa, Illinois, Missouri, Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware or a total of over 300."

"Advices also show that the drift toward Mr. Hoover in Wisconsin, Maryland and North Carolina will carry him over these states, making a total of 333, without any consideration of the states where I have personally made no survey but which should give additional electoral votes."

TODAY

IF that is not enthusiastic, coming from Mr. Coolidge, man of few words, it would be hard to imagine enthusiasm.

And observe the Wisdom of the President. He knows that the LAST word is the powerful word. Remember the people's capacity for forgetting, at the LAST MINUTE he sends them the message that HIS supporters should be HOOVER'S supporters.

NOTHING could be more emphatic than the president's statement to Hoover.

"You have disclosed a breadth of information, a maturity of thought and a soundness of conclusion on public questions, never surpassed in a previous presidential campaign."

GOV. SMITH, winding up the campaign in his home town, New York, received, even in the rain, such a welcome as New York has not seen since Dewey came home.

IN his Brooklyn speech he attacked the Republican party in New York for its opposition to his social welfare legislation. The national Republican party knows that it has a weak spot in New York, where the Republican bosses invite corporations that do not see what they want "to ask for it."

Smith Appeals

dent Coolidge twice vetoed farm relief legislation.

"He had nothing to offer in place of it," he said, "what has Mr. Hoover to offer in place of it today? If he is true to what he has always said he would certainly veto any bill passed upon the principle of the control of the exportable surplus. You certainly do not think he is going to sign a bill, which he passed at a special session or regular session, based upon that principle which he calls 'state socialism.'"

Campaign Expense $10,000.

The invocations of the day were made by the Rev. William H. Baker, pastor of the First Church of Christ, in the morning; the Rev. R. C. Beachley, pastor of the Pennsylvania Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, in the afternoon and Dr. J. H. Lawther, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, in the evening.

The Rev. L. J. Davidson, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church and chairman of the campaign executive committee, was in general charge of all the exercises of the day.

He introduced Prof. Laughlin, who had trained the choir, in the morning and the latter then presented Rodeheaver.

"This is a great moment for East Liverpool and one of its greatest days," declared the Rev. Mr. Davidson. "There used to be a garden on this lot before the first Billy Sunday revival in 1912 and I am hoping that it by now shall become a veritable gate of heaven, a house of God that shall shine as bright as the stars as a way to many into the kingdom of God."

Both the Rev. Mr. Davidson and the Rev. W. C. Hawkins, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, spoke during the day regarding the cost of the campaign which they averred was less than $10,000 and which, it was expected, would be quickly met by free will offerings during early days so that stress could be laid on the real object of the campaign, "the regeneration of souls not knowing Jesus Christ."

Thursday High School Night

Announcement was made of an all-day service in the First Methodist church, Tuesday, under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. during which prayers for right voting will be stressed.

The evangelist stated that on Thursday night he would preach on the subject "The American Home." On Friday night the high school students are to be guests at the revival. Then their class yells will be given and their band play.

The Rev. Dr. Hawkins delivered the welcome to the evangelistic party. "This is the second time I am come unto you," he quoted from the scriptures to remind his hearers that Mr. Sunday had come the second time to East Liverpool. More than 6,000 persons started right on his first visit," Dr. Hawkins continued. "And in the interim more than a million souls have done so by reason of his activity I am glad today to see the fruition of our invitation to Mr. Sunday of a year ago and on behalf of the East Liverpool Ministerial Association and all of East Liverpool we welcome you back."

Mr. Sunday said it was the first time he had returned to any city in which he had previously held a campaign. "We were in Syracuse ten days once after having been there before, but East Liverpool is the first place in which we have been for a series of returned meetings. We have been thinking of you, however, thrice daily as we have eaten off the dishes you so kindly gave us when we were here before."

No Services Tonight.

Three rules have been laid down by Mr. Sunday: No babies in the tabernacle, they to be left in the nursery provided in the First Presbyterian church; no coughing except into handkerchiefs since the noise is hard on the speaker, and no walking down the aisles while he is talking.

No meetings will be held tonight or this afternoon, Monday being rest day for the evangelistic party. Services will resume Tuesday afternoon and night.

Mr. Sunday, announcing that meetings would be held every afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and every night at 7:30 o'clock, made an exception of Saturday afternoon. Then the service in the afternoon will begin at 2:00 o'clock, so that all, including himself and the other members of the party, may attend the dedication of Patterson field, preceding the football game with the Martins' Ferry high school.

Declares War On Saloon.

"I shall fight the saloon as I always have until the last second of the final minute of the last day of my life," declared the evangelist in his terrific onslaught on the liquor menace last night. "We put the saloon in hell in 1920 and we will keep it there no matter who starts for it. It will stay there until the North Pole grows oranges. Even when gone, rather than have this iniquitous evil return to the land I should be glad to have my skin taken from its mortal frame and tanned into drum by which the tocsin for battle against it could be sounded. At Thermopylae there was one left to advise of the defeat incurred, but none survived at the Alamo when 183 men crossed the line to fight the Mexicans no matter what the odds. It is such standing for convictions as in these two instances that genuine victories for right are brought about."

"I did more than any other man in America to put the country dry and have the credit for 12 states in the column. I never take part in presidential campaigns and would not have done so this time but when both dominant parties put dry enforcement planks in their platforms and Al Smith ruthlessly repudiated that in the Democratic party, then I had nothing to do but step in. I am not fighting him because he is Catholic or a Democrat, but because he is wet and trying to nullify the constitution. If Al Smith were dry and Herbert Hoover wet I should support Al Smith unhesitatingly. If my wife, Mrs. Sunday, was wet I would fight her as I am now fighting Al Smith."

Attacks Tammany Hall.

He characterized as a bald lie the statement frequently heard that more liquor is being consumed in the country than during saloon days. There is less than 15 per cent of the former amount now being used, he said. "If there were more the vets would be trying to get the saloons back," he shouted. "Why should they? Especially when they can get such high prices as are now being paid for the poor quality dispensed."

He asserted as inaccurate the statement that the Eighteenth amendment was put over the people, but averred that it was legally put in the constitution.

"There is nothing the matter with prohibition," he pointed out, "but there is with its enforcement. But the way to make it effective is not to put an enemy leader in charge of it."

Tammany Hall he characterized as always an institution that reeked with unsavory doings. "We are not going to let the tail wag the dog," he protested. He said that Tammany had never supported a Democratic nominee since the days of Horace Greely.

He paid the late William Jennings Bryan a marked tribute. If Bryan had lived Smith would never have been nominated, he said. "He prevented his nomination in 1924 and would have done so again. In 1920 the politicians put an enemy leader in charge of it."

He predicted a big surprise in the southern voting on Tuesday.

Myers Cooper Sunday's Friend.

He pointed that Democrats had a precedent in leaving their party when a matter of principle was involved. "Republicans left their party to elect Woodrow Wilson in 1916, because he kept us out of war. Even the middle west, rock-ribbed Republican as it is, went for him. I don't interfere with state elections. Here in Ohio you can vote as you please for governor. I do not know Mr. Davey, but Myers Y. Cooper has been my friend for years and was a member of the executive committee in Cincinnati. Congressman Burton is also a friend of mine."

He bitterly attacked Gov. Smith for his part in the repeal of the Mullen-Gage state enforcement bill and averred that to leave the state without such a measure was tantamount to a condition equal to or worse than anarchy.

Because Al Smith had repudiated the platform of his party on liquor he said that he had no party back of him. He derided his far views averring that all he knew of farming was what he saw from a Pullman car window. "Why I doubt if he knows what side of a cow to take to milk her," he said.

Denies Intolerance Charge.

He deprecated the charge of intolerance on the part of ministers fighting for the preservation of the Eighteenth amendment. "I do not hear the persons making this charge fighting or saying anything for its preservation. We have a right to stand for what we believe. And the intolerance is not all on our side under the circumstances. The moment we stand for a principle we are regarded as intolerant though they can fight it and be held as tolerant. They do not care how much they step on our toes."

The man who buys liquor from a bootlegger he held to be as low-down as the bootlegger and nothing, he said, can be more contemptible than for a judge to fine a man for a thing that he himself is guilty of. Poor sentences by such judges, bad juries not inflicting sufficient punishment, he said, had much to do with poor enforcement.

To those who would vote for the taking out of the amendment from the constitution he suggested: "What is the use to do with ballots what your children will have to undo with bullets."

"I am not asking Democrats to forsake their party simply to detour Al Smith next Tuesday," he shouted. "Al Smith can not be elected president without the south. And the south is dry."

He told Hoover by about 30,000 votes you will never have a better chance to show your Americanism than on next Tuesday. Do not let a man like Ras-kob be put in a position that he may be the enforcement officer of prohibition. You are fighting for your dinner pail. For if the million and more men in Europe that hope to come to America by the immigration policy proposed by the leader of the party for the moment you will not have a job long. And remember it is as intolerant to vote for one simply because he is a Catholic as it is to oppose him for the reason of his religion alone. I am not fighting him because of his religion for we both believe in the same God, heaven and hell."

Derides Knockers of Church.

In the afternoon he stressed the virtues of faith. "It makes no provision for relapse," he said. "No scale is too high for it. I say to the devil that the genuine Christian does not know how to be a traitor in fighting evil."

He derided knockers of the church. "It is not perfect," he admitted. "Don't knock it, but come in and try to right its imperfections. I am sorry that men in it do not introduce Jesus Christ by their lives as well as by their professions."

"The smoke in all of the factories of the country would be stopped if all of the churches of the country, Catholic and Protestant, were done away with. A poor church member is better than none at all."

In the morning the part played in the regeneration of sinners by the Holy Spirit was explained in detail.

That the People May Know

Lest any misapprehension may obtain in the minds of some of the people, let it be understood that no plan nor style of building has been adopted or selected for either the proposed new City Hall or Central Fire Station.

The pictures shown on the screen of the local theaters and on the front page of the Review last week are but one architect's conception of what might be wanted. He drew the sketches on his own volition, without suggestion and without pay or compensation, and arranged, himself, for showing them. The writer knows no more of them than what appeared on the screen and in the newspaper.

If the proposed bond issues are approved by the voters, plans of other architects will be considered. I assure you, and only those selected which, after careful study and investigation seem most fully to meet the requirements of the city and the people as to style of architecture and interior arrangements.

Most respectfully submitted, RALPH C. BENEDUM, Mayor.

ROCHESTER MAN DIES AFTER HIT-RUN AUTO DRIVER HITS HIM

Funeral Services Held Today for Sebastian Camerata, 27 — Freedom Motorist Arrested.

ROCHESTER, Pa., Nov. 5.—Funeral services were held today in the St. Cecilia's Catholic church for Sebastian Camerata, 27, of Harmony avenue, who died of a fractured skull sustained when hit by a hit-run automobile driver last Thursday on the bridge spanning McKinley's Run between Rochester and North Rochester.

Walter Anderson, 1445 Fourth avenue, Freedom, arrested Friday night by Assistant Chief of Police P. A. Anderson in connection with the accident, and later released on his own recognizance by Chief of Police William G. Roth, Rochester, will be arraigned before Justice of the Peace William A. Wehr, on a charge of failure to stop and render assistance following an accident. Anderson was arrested on a warrant sworn out before Justice Wehr by Camerata's brother.

Although much mystery surrounded the manner in which Camerata was injured, a wheelbarrow found on the bridge near his prostrate body indicated that he had been struck by a hit-and-run driver. Chief Roth later unearthed several clues which led to the arrest of Anderson.

Gas on Stomach Is Dangerous

Gas, pain, bloating and sourness after eating almost always mean "too much acid" in the stomach. The condition is dangerous. Acid irritates the stomach lining and may lead to ulcers. Gas forms and presses against the heart. The stomach needs an alkaline. Bisurated Magnesia—powder or tablets—is the ideal method of getting safe, quick, lasting relief. It neutralizes the excess acid, sweetens the stomach, breaks up the gas, stops the pain and sourness. Food digests naturally. It must give prompt relief or money back say Mathews Med. A Candidates Qualifications

As the campaign draws to a close the Voter should ask himself regarding the fitness and ability of the candidate to discharge the duties of the office to which he aspires.

At this time it is my wish, as a friend of Paul Finley to speak a word as to his qualifications for the office of Delegate to the West Virginia Legislature.

When but a boy, Paul served as Page in the National Congress, during the World War.

He is a young man of good business ability, being a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh class of 1924 and is now General Manager of the Newell Lumber and Contracting Company and has shown a marked ability in building up the business and placing it among the leading Lumber and Contracting firms of the Ohio Valley.

He is a member of the Board of Trade of Chester and is aligned with every movement for the betterment of Chester and Hancock County.

If the Voters decide to make him their representative in the Legislature, they may feel assured that their interests will be carefully guarded and all legislation supported or opposed from a keen business standpoint.

You will make no mistake in supporting him for the office to which he aspires, as he bid fair to become one of the outstanding business men of Hancock County and will give us an able representation.

SIMON IS NAMED CUYAHOGA CLERK

CLEVELAND, Nov. 5. — Louis Simon, Republican, and Archie J. Kennel, Democrat, were selected as clerk and deputy clerk, respectively, of the new Cuyahoga county board of elections here today.

Moving swiftly, the new board met again this morning and appointed the two officials to fill the vacancies resulting from the dismissal of the former clerk and deputy by Secretary of State Clarence J. Brown last Tuesday.

Making Up for Lost Vegetables!

SEVERAL factors vital to sound health are simply ignored in the average person's daily diet. But add a little syrup pepsin now and then, and watch what happens! Your appetite improves, so does your digestion, and elimination. Lots of folks who thought they were in perfect physical condition see a tremendous change after ten days with syrup pepsin.

Enough fresh vegetables would have us all in splendid condition, if only we would eat enough of them. Few of us do. But here is a little secret which makes it unnecessary for one to worry every day about diet; there is enough in one spoon of plain syrup pepsin to fill a market basket!

Now, if a scientific, vegetable corrective can put you in fine physical form so quickly, and keep the whole alimentary tract cleansed and sweet and free from need of powerful purges

—it surely is worth trying! An actual test can be made in ten days. In this short space of time your stomach, and liver and bowels can be in shape to handle anything that's eaten! How children thrive on almost any diet when pure pepsin syrup is given just occasionally to help assimilation, and make elimination thorough and regular! Elderly people have a far easier time, too, where this ideal combination of laxative herbs and pure pepsin is appreciated. Dr. Caldwell discovered this innocent means of keeping bowels normally active in 1875. Today, you couldn't find a drug store without this famous prescription, all put up with directions enclosed.

Potters Lose Hard Battle To Salem By Single-Point Margin

Quaker Combine Claims County Gridiron Title

Red and Black Scores After Intercepting Pass in Second Period; Locals March 62 Yards to Touchdown in Third Period.

Bearing the marks of a battle, the intensity of which was not entirely visible to the sidelines, high school footballers today found themselves in the most battered condition of the season following their 7 to 6 reversal at Salem Saturday, the Red and Black claiming county supremacy as a result of the victory.

Halfback Chetwyn will probably be out the remainder of the season as a result of a fractured collar bone and while other injuries are not that serious, the squad as a whole is in none too good condition with the Martin's Ferry dedication game a week away.

Only 10 first downs were made during the conflict at Reilly Field and six of these were chalked up to the credit of the Potters. The Blue and White outgained their adversaries, especially in the second half which was marked by a 68-yard march without let-up to a touchdown, but the fact remains that they were unable to make their point after the touchdown and, consequently, lost the game.

Out of a vivid nightmare of many freak occurrences, among which the incompetency of the officials, with the exception of Referee Bletzer, stands out, there remain for Potters the lasting impressions left by Halfback Clark as they ripped the Salem line to shreds in that 68-yard touchdown march in the third period, and the great defensive work of End Bobby Withrow.

Patsy Konert, while an outstanding member of the Red and Black combine, was stopped in his tracks at

High Officials Protest Acts Of Whistle Men

Hint Different Arrangements Will be Made in Future.

Asserting that the work of the officials at the East Liverpool-Salem game Saturday, with the exception of Referee Bletzer, was to them the most unsatisfactory they had witnessed this season, both Faculty Manager J. M. Decker and Coach J. E. Hurst of the local high school indicated that in the future different and more satisfactory arrangements would be made prior to athletic meetings between the two schools.

Decker today said that Salem submitted a list of officials last spring, as is the custom, for the football game. Decker indicated what officials would be satisfactory to East Liverpool but declared, specifically, he says, that Schmacke was not satisfactory.

This appeared to be all right with Salem school authorities. Last Tuesday, however, Decker was notified by Salem school men that the officials agreed upon last spring were not available, with the exception of Bletzer, a Mt. Union man. Several other prospects were named, among them Gross of New Philadelphia and Decker O. K'd that list.

When the game started Saturday at Salem, Schmacke and Kattman, umpire and headlinesman, respectively, were on the field as officials, together with Bletzer.

Both Decker and Hurst protested before the game. Principal Springer, of Salem, declared he did not know how Schmacke got there. No one else vouchsafed any information, either.

Decker today declared he was done with accepting last minute officials from any school.

Coach Joe Hurst was affected probably as much by the battering his squad received as anything else. Chetwyn is out with a cracked collar bone. Both Dalrymple and Mackall bear unmistakable imprints of cleats on their bodies, Hurst says.

Hurst could see nothing wrong with Skidmore's 50-yard run. He points out the inconsistency of Schmacke's act in ruling the play illegal but, at the same time, failing to penalize the team as the rules insist.

Through Mackall's fingers, Salem recovering, Konert was stopped at left end. Mackall was hurt on the play but he continued on. Feit knocked down a pass. Another pass was grounded and Salem lost five yards. Whinnery made eight at left tackle but was stopped on the next play, E. L. taking the ball. Skidmore kicked to Konert on the 30. Wooley replaced Clark at the tackle and Clark went in for Skidmore at full.

The play ended a few seconds later on the E. L. 25.

Third Quarter. Skidinger kicked to Mackall who carried it five to the 32. Mills made five at left tackle. Clark took center and Mackall tore through for a first down. Mills knifed left tackle for eight. Feit one at right tackle and Mills then plunged through for seven more and a first down. Mackall failed to gain. Mills and Clark hit the line successively for five yards apiece and a first down. Feit was stopped at right tackle. Mills spun through left tackle for three and Clark opened the line for a first down on the Salem 18. Clark plunged the line for six more yards in two trials and Mills another at left tackle. Mackall passes to Feit who was downed on the Salem four.

Mills hit left guard for one. Clark failed at center and Mackall then plunged off right tackle for the touchdown. Mackall's pass for the point was knocked down.

Clark's following kick-off was short. Scullion being stopped on the 45. Konert left two yards on two downs but Skidinger picked up 10 at right end and then punted to Mills who made a pretty 18-yard run to the 28.

Feit made one at right end and Clark four in two smashes at center. Mackall kicked to Konert. Skidinger, a few minutes later, returned the punt. The quarter ended on the East Liverpool 40.

Fourth Quarter. East Liverpool was held for downs. A bobble on an attempted punt gave Salem the ball. Whinnery made three at left tackle and Konert five at the same place. Smith picked up two at center for first down. Plunges by Konert, Skidinger and Whinnery failed to move the sticks and Skidinger punted out of bounds on the E. L. 12. Mills made two at left guard. Mackall's punt was hurried and it went high in the air, dropping on the E. L. 28.

Skidinger was stopped at center. Konert lost two and Skidinger then booted into the end zone, E. L. taking the ball on their 20.

Pass to Feit was grounded. Mackall fumbled and lost two. Skidmore replaced Mills at half and on the first play booted to Konert who was dropped in his tracks by Withrow on the 50. Smith and Skidinger made a couple of yards at center and Skidinger kicked to Skidmore who made a fair catch on the 25. Pass to Skidmore was grounded. Mackall made four at left tackle but East Liverpool was penalized five.

Smith intercepted a pass and was downed on the E. L. 10. Salem was held for downs, being penalized five in the bargain. Low pass from center slipped through Skidmore's fingers and he carried the ball out to the five-yard line. He punted again but was hurried and the kick was short.

Salem was unable to break through the line and Skidinger attempted a drop kick which was short. East Liverpool took the ball on their 20. Two passes were grounded as the game ended.

Midland Routs Jinx in Win Over Freedom

Scores After 40-yard March in Fourth Period.

MIDLAND, Pa., Nov. 5.—Midland broke a three years jinx Saturday when they beat Freedom from Freedom 7 to 0. For three years Freedom had outscored Lincoln high but Midland's revenge was sweet.

It happened in the fourth quarter when Midland began a 40 yard march up the field and a final 13 yard run for the touchdown after a dispute had been settled between the officials and the teams.

It started when Suffaletta, Midland aid along the sideline, declared that Freedom had made five instead of four downs to gain the necessary ten yards for a firstdown. Suffaletta, throwing down his pole, ran across the field to tell the coach. A short argument ensued in which the Blue and Gold team said to let Freedom keep the ball where it was and that they would finish the game and beat Freedom. And they did!

During the first half Freedom had piled up six first downs to Midland's five but in the last half Lincoln scored six to Freedom's three, making four of these to gain the goal.

Tom Holland, despite Freedom's heavier team, put the pigskin over and Glumac, when he saw that no one was open to receive the pass for the extra point, darted through the defense and laid the ball over the line.

Crichton was taken from the game in the first quarter when he sustained a sprained shoulder as he hit a Freedom player running back a punt.

Cutrona and Donaldson starred for the losing eleven while T. Holland, Glumac, D. Holland and Rosen played well for the Crucibles. From all indications it looks as though Holland might make an all-county end this year. His playing is unequalled in any team that Lincoln has matched this season.

Buckeyes Play Iowa For Title

Outcome Certain to Prove Big Ten Supremacy.

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—Nothing could be sweeter, for the sake of post-season argument, than the fate which, next Saturday, brings together on the football field of honor the two unbeaten and united teams of the big ten conference, Iowa and Ohio State. The game will be played at Columbus.

The conference title, from this distance, appears to be a toss-up between these two, although Wisconsin still looms as a serious threat. The Badgers have been tied, but not beaten.

Illinois, unbeaten in two years until Saturday when the seemingly harmless Wolverines slipped over a 34-0 win, is virtually out of the running. Michigan, playing at home, took the cocky Illini completely by surprise. Over-confidence is believed to have played its part in the downfall of Zuppke's machine.

This was the biggest upset of the day. Another upset of the same breathtaking proportions, but not as important as regards the title race, was the defeat of Minnesota by Northwestern. The score was 10 to 9.

After its disastrous conference games, Chicago was conceded to have done quite well by finishing only one touchdown behind Pennsylvania. The Boilermakers won of course, 19 Penn won, 20 to 13.

In the second big inter-sectional clash of the day in this district Wisconsin turned back the Crimson tide of Alabama 15 to 0, at Madison.

Purdue took "time out" Saturday from the strenuous conference campaign to resume hostilities with Case. The Boilermakers won of course, 19 Penn won, 20 to 13.

It was Dads' day at the Lafayette institution. Iowa also took a mere workout Saturday, defeating South Dakota, 19 to 0, at the Hawkeyes' own ballfield. Indiana had no game scheduled.

Ohio State, the third big ten team to bask in the glamour of inter-sectional pastime, tied Princeton at six all, and so kept its slate clean and its national prestige as great at least as the eastern Tiger's.

Freedom — Morgan for Horner; Quinn for Alberts; Patricia for Duamiller; Kane for Morgan; Rider for Quinn.

Time of quarters—12 minutes.

Officials—Referee, Kagh, PHT; umpire, Mates, Allegheny; headlinesman, Gray, Buchnell.

Moran and Wilde Are Set For Punchfest at F. O. E.

Mt. Washington Lad Meets Cantonian in Eight-round Final; Profio to Show His K. O. Wallop in Semi-final.

A couple of sluggers out of the Pittsburgh district will parade their choicest punches before East Liverpool district fight fans tonight at the Eagles' arena.

Week's Schedule, "A" League.
Tonight—Liberty vs Turk Nash.
Tuesday—Reese Jewelers vs Mill Iron.

Thursday—Beers Hanks vs Smith News.

Friday—Exide Batteries vs Gulf Gas. Week's Schedule, "B" League.
Wednesday—Club Billiards vs Workington.

Friday—Golden Flowers vs Kirby Shoes.

Midget Mike Moran, of Mt. Washington, and Dominick Profio, Pittsburgh, occupy places in the main and the semi-final battles on tonight's program, the former meeting Johnny Wilde of Canton and the latter taking on Jack O'Keefe of Alliance.

Both bouts are rife with possibilities along the knockout line if the contenders run true to form. Moran and Wilde are expected to tangle from the first bell and inasmuch as both are inclined to swing hard and frequently, there may be a sudden termination of this scrap any time.

The Profio-O'Keefe match probably will attract as much interest as the main event. It figures to be a match between a puncher and a boxer and this naturally won't detract from the action.

Ray Mitchell, East Liverpool, takes on Jackie Welsh of Sebring in the second prelim with Nick Caruso, the Midland lad, meeting Pete Ross of Lisbon in the opener.

The complete card:

Main.
Midget Mike Moran, Mt. Washington, Pa., Vs. Johnny Wilde, Canton, eight rounds.

Semi-Final.
Dominick Profio, Pittsburgh, Vs. Jack O'Keefe, Alliance, six rounds.

Second Preliminary.
Ray Mitchell, East Liverpool, Vs. Jackie Welsh, Sebring, four rounds.

Opener.
Nick Caruso, Midland, Vs. Pete Ross, Lisbon, four rounds.

DAPHNE

Thrilling story of love of two girls for the same man

By HAZEL LIVINGSTON

He sat, bowed over in Crystal's gay chintz covered rocking chair, and the slow tears dripped through his thick, knotted fingers into the black and orange pillow at his feet. Timidly Daphne touched his shoulder. "I'm sorry I made trouble . . . but it was Mother's . . . I couldn't bear to lose it."

He stirred, looked at her stupidly for a minute, not quite understanding. He had thought he was alone. Then Daphne hadn't gone with the others. She had waited, she had heard Adeline talk to him . . . that way . . . heard him begging her; beseeching her . . .

"You're always making trouble!" His voice was hoarse, shaking with passion. "You and your mother . . . just like . . . from the minute she set foot in this house, a disappointment to me . . . constant expense . . . just like her . . ."

"Oh!" A little heartbroken sound from Daphne. "Oh!"

"And now you're trying to come between me and my wife. Ruin my life—You saw what you did—you saw!"

She slipped then. He rocked himself back and forth, back and forth, in the little, chintz-covered chair. Daphne's eyes, so terribly hurt . . . reproachful too, as if she had anything to reproach him for, a good father! Serve her right. Let her take on if she wanted to, it was all her fault, coming between him and Adeline . . . the first chance he had ever had to be happy . . .

He had never been happy with Martha . . . Martha . . . His mind went back twenty years. A likely looking girl when he met her, a merry little thing with great dark eyes, mild like a fawn's, and smooth, dark hair. A school teacher, timid, afraid of the big boys . . .

Soft spoken she was, and gentle. She seemed so . . . so everything that he wanted. Yes, he had counted on great things from Martha, a woman in the house to make . . . comfortable. It had been lonely after his mother died . . . There was a woman . . . his mother . . . no nonsense about her. Eleven children she had, and never missed more than a wee 'n's work with any of them. Monday week she had the washout as usual.

Not Martha . . . weak . . . and silly. Ran up the stairs, not half looking where she was going, the day he brought her home. Turned back to say some foolish thing about the pretty "ood in the baluster. "Such a dear, darling house, Abner—I just love it already!" Look, I'm kissing the sweet wood in the railing!" No wonder she caught her heel and fell, carrying on foolish like that . . . Terrible shock for a man, seeing his bride fall like that, having to pick her up, a crumpled little heap at the foot of the stairs . . . He sighed, remembering . . . Four months she was in bed, and a pretty penny it cost him. And after that she was never good for much.

He could see her yet, white faced and silent, dragging through the work, with those big eyes looking at him . . . Enough to try any man's patience. Moody and tearful. Full of nonsensical ideas. Even the child was a disappointment, not a boy after all. Insisting on naming it Daphne . . . Daph' is a pretty name. I mean her to have something 'ty!"

Saying that over and over through blue lips, and so weak and ill that he dared not cross her, and hold out for Henrietta . . . A great disappointment, Martha, like her mother . . . Full of crazy ideas, always talking about prettiness, sunsets, poetry!

And when a little sunshine did come into his life, when he did find a lively sensible woman to appreciate him and he was beginning to live for the first time in his life, then Daphne spoils it . . . ruins everything . . . "Adeline!" he cried, jumping up in a panic, "Adeline!" He beat frantically against her locked door, but she did not answer, and presently he went away.

They waited dinner till half past six, but he did not come back. "I hope you're satisfied now that you've driven my husband out of the house!" Adeline said bitterly.

Daphne did not answer but she saw that her step-mother had decided to "make up" for she was wearing her best lavender voile with the lace collar and above the powdery pink marshmallow of her face her yellow hair was carefully crimped.

Old Man Haines saw it too when he tiptoed in about half past eight, humming a little tune to show he wasn't nervous.

"I got a pork chop in the oven for you," his wife said without looking up. "I hope it ain't dried up."

He reached out his arms to her, and if she stiffened a little she did not draw away. She had had time to think to think of the dressmaking days, of her needle-pricked fingers, the little furnish d room she had in San Jose, with the folding bed and the sewing machine and the everlasting scraps on the floor. After all, she had a comfortable home now . . .

"Bless you, Adeline, bless you!" The old man's heart went out to her in a great wave of gratitude. Dear Adeline, forgiving him, forgiving everything . . . And even as he bless' Adeline he thought of Martha again, Martha with her dark, accusing eyes . . . what did she have to accuse him ab' t? She was the one—disappointing him, doing the wrong thing from the first to last . . . d'ye see on him right in the height of the season, when the money is thick on the ground and there were the hired hands to cook for and no time for a funeral . . .

"Constant expense," he muttered, shaking his head, starting with unseeing eyes at the old kitchen table.

"What?" Adeline shrieked.

"Just thinkin'," he said mildly. And then reaching short, thick arms to her again. "Adeline, you don't know what you mean to me, you don't know . . . the one love of my life Adeline, the only woman I ever loved."

So that was the end. "It's no use, staying here," Daphne thought with an odd sort of detachment. "He's forgotten me, just as he's forgotten Mother. He doesn't want me, it's no use."

She got out the cheap straw suitcase with the imitation leather binding and began to pack. She moved very quietly, like a small gray shadow.

CHAPTER 6.

It took a long time to pack, though all the things folded easily into the one suitcase. Daphne's possessions were few. But her lands were numb—stupid. She'd fold a blouse, and then sit uncomfortable on the floor beside the suitcase, staring at it, lost in dazed, disjointed thoughts . . .

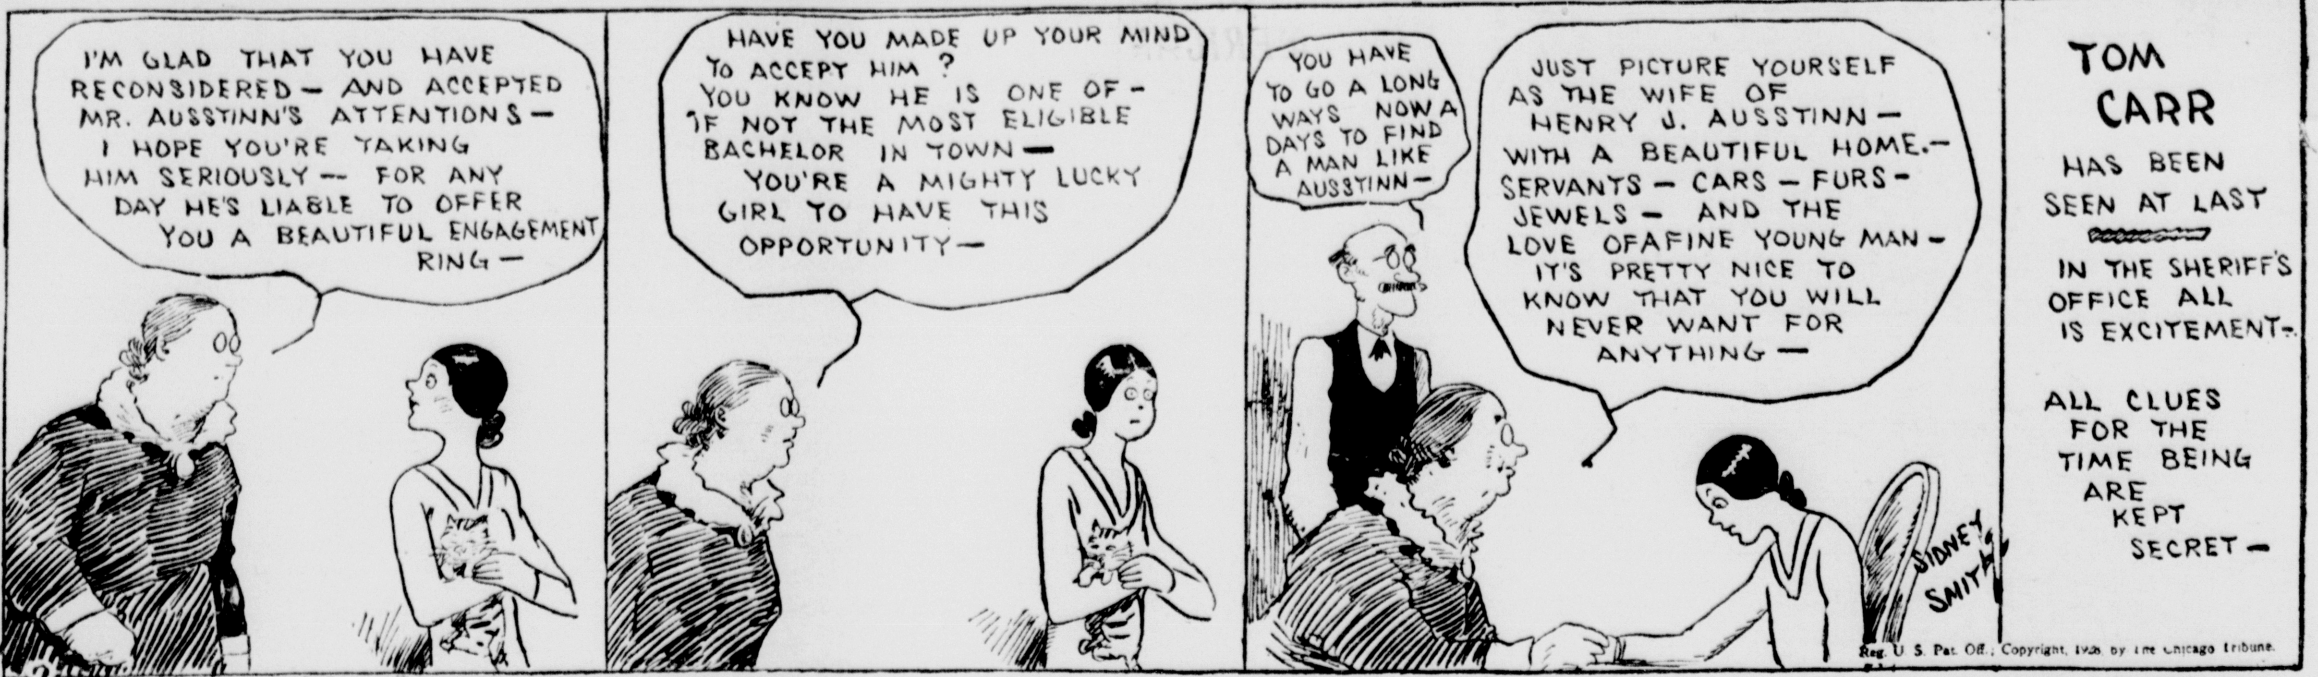

"I'm going away," she thought stupidly. "Tomorrow I won't be here at all . . . where I've always been . . ."

But she didn't really believe it, not even in the morning when she walked into town to draw her savings from the bank. Thirty-five dollars—that ought to last until she found work. She opened it inside her blouse where it crackled ominously . . . nice to have so much money . . . And three dollars and forty cents in her purse besides.

Nobody missed her when she went to town, nobody knew when she came back. Nobody called her to lunch though she ate, and the hash frying, heard them drawing in their chairs, put the plates and knives and forks. "They don't even know I'm here . . ." She swallowed the rising lump in her throat. "I don't care . . . I don't care!" But she did care. She looked around the old room for the last time. Stopped her hat again at the mirror. She had dressed so carefully. Her best dress, blue linen with a pleated skirt and a white collar, the black straw hat from last summer, the little red leather purse with her best handkerchief poking out the corner. All ready . . . nothing to wait for . . . But she lingered. Funny to be leaving . . . leaving home. "This was mother's room, too," she thought, "and she wasn't happy here either . . . she used to cry . . ." That same wallpaper was there then, faded daisies on a background that was still blue in a neat square behind the closet door. A picture had hung there . . . but it was gone, just as her mother was gone . . . nothing left . . . and soon there would be nothing left of her. Just a blank room, nothing left of the dreams she had dreamed, of the air-castles she had built . . .

"STATE STREET SADIE" WINNER

The new generation of "tough guys" has sprung up in Hollywood. Gone is the thing of old slapstick comedy days, with slouch cap, striped jersey, bulging biceps, and unkempt appearance. That this is so is strikingly exemplified in "State Street Sadie," now at the Cerrito theater, with Conrad Nagel in the principal roles. In this Warner Bros. production, directed by Archie Mayo, one finds that the fashionable yegg of the hour is instead a puffy dresser with a closer acquaintance with polished finger nails than "brass knuckles." He can fight when occasion calls for a set-to, and then the fur—or rather the bullet—flies. On the whole, he prefers to use his fists.

In a recent interview, while directing this crook mystery melodrama, Director Mayo sounded the death knell to the movie hopes of those who boast—or wisely fail to boast—a tough mug.

"The tougher they look the harder it is for them to get a job in the modern melodrama," he declared. "And the reason is that the new 'tough guy' of the screen is not a creation of the movie studios, but a true reflection of the gang type of today."

And in "State Street Sadie," it is a fact that such a handsome star as Conrad Nagel need not change his appearance materially to fit into gangland's sinister atmosphere. A little special jagged, a certain shifty glance, a way of talking through the corner of the mouth—and presto, he is ready to board the gangster in his own den.

Others in the cast are George Stone and Pat Hartigan. E. T. Lowe, Jr. The picture is an adaptation by E. T. Lowe, Jr. of a story by Melville Crossman.

"THE WHIP" OPENS AT AMERICAN

Versatility. It's the one word that describes Dorothy Mackall's screen career.

During the last year or more, Miss Mackall's screen roles have ranged from farce and light comedy to the most serious of dramatic parts. She has accomplished that most difficult of tasks—that of being accepted in any role instead of being always mentally placed in one classification. This is evident from her constantly increasing popularity.

Miss Mackall's latest featured role is that of Lady Diana in "The Whip." First National's picturization of the famous old Drury Lane melodrama which comes to the American theatre here today.

But consider the wide variance of her recent film portrayals. In "Lady Be Good" she was assistant to a magician on a third-rate vaudeville circuit—a whimsical role in a light and pleasant comedy-drama.

In "Ladies Night in a Turkish Bath" she sported herself through riotous, light-hearted farce. In "The Crystal Cup," to step to the other extreme, her role was a heavy, dramatic one with hardly a light moment throughout the picture. "Smile, Brother, Smile" found her again in light comedy and "Man Crazy" in a combination of comedy and drama.

That First National judiciously intends to continue this alternation of Miss Mackall's screen characterizations is evident. While you are seeing "The Whip," she will be enacting a highly dramatic role in "The Barker." Kenyon Nicholson's drama of carnival life, in which she is sharing honors with Milton Sills.

"The Whip" offers all the hectic excitement for which the old Drury Lane thrillers were famous, with horse races, auto wrecks, train collisions and much convincing and plotting on the part of the villains to drive away monotony.

GEORGETOWN IS SCORING LEADER

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Georgetown is still the high scoring team among eastern football teams today, but Pennsylvania has displaced New York university as the runner-up. Georgetown has 247 points and Penn 181. The leaders, with points scored by and against, are as follows:

College	By	Against
Georgetown	247	9
Pennsylvania	181	19
N. Y. U.	178	27
Lafayette	175	30
Carnegie Tech	167	19
Army	164	31

G. O. P. TO RETAIN SENATE CONTROL

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—The Republican party will retain a nominal control of the United States senate in the next congress even if a majority of the Democratic claims are upheld by the electorate, analysis showed today.

The Democrats have claimed but 19 sure victories in the 25 senatorial contests being decided Tuesday. With but 26 "holdover" senators of their faith left in the senate, their claims could be fulfilled and yet leave the senate in the control of their political rivals. The Democratic chance to win control however, will rest upon success in three states, where they expect "probable victories" and in three others, termed "doubtful."

Three men and one woman are nominees of the Republicans and Democratic parties for the two state representative places to be filled by Columbiana county electors when they go to the polls on Tuesday. R. D. Smith, Salineville, and W. H. Van Fossan, Lisbon, are the Republican candidates, while Fred O. Glenn, Glenmoor, and Miss Minnie E. Johnson, Lisbon, are the Democratic nominees.

Smith, who was one of three candidates for the two places at the August primary election, is serving his second term as mayor of Salineville. He was a member of the Salineville school board for seven years and is now serving on the county board of health. Two years ago Smith was defeated for the Republican nomination for state representative. He is a member of the Masons, Knights of Pythias and the Methodist Episcopal church. He is married and the father of one boy.

Van Fossan served as superintendent of the Lisbon schools for 17 years and was a county school examiner for several years. He holds a master's degree. During his first term in the state legislature he served on many important committees. He is a member of the Presbyterian church, the Odd Fellows and Masons and is also identified with the Ohio Archaeological and Historical society. He is the father of six children.

Glenn is president of the East Liverpool board of education and has lived in Columbiana county for 32 years. He is the founder of the residential section along the Lincoln highway, five miles north of here, known as Glenmoor. He has been associated with the Golden Star dairy for about five years and recently became identified with the Chamberlain Motor Sales company, at Stop 55 on the Y. & O. He is a member of the First Christian church, Lions' club, Knights of Malta and Modern Woodmen of America. He is married and the father of three children. His home is in Glenmoor.

Miss Johnson is the first woman ever nominated in Columbiana county for a state office by a major party.

She has lived in Columbiana county for more than 25 years, all of which has been spent in the office of Billingsley & Moore, Lisbon law firm. Miss Johnson has been treasurer of the Pittsburgh, Lisbon and Western railroad, recently acquired by the Mountour railroad interests, for 12 years. She is a member of the Lisbon Presbyterian church.

"State Street Sadie"

with Conrad Nagel and Myrna Loy

The plot deals with the successful expose of a phantom "Chief," the mysterious leader of a band of bank robbers. After a member of the gang has committed suicide, out of humiliation at the circumstances which made him a gangster, his twin brother decides to impersonate him and run down the crooks. The same purpose motivates the daughter of the police officer shot by the bandits. Together they work out a pretty piece of maneuvering to bag the bank burcrats, but not before they have themselves been within an inch of being drilled by a maxim silencer.
